RE: Letter of Reference for Gregory Titus

To Whom It May Concern:

Gregory Titus of CEGO Solutions, Inc. was a consultant for Interactive Internet Technologies on a replacement product involving the .NET platform. This project was designed to replace a traditional ASP.NET collaboration application, with a richer and more robust thin client using win-forms in Visual Basic.Net over the internet, along with a unique application update delivery system.

He was instrumental in the design, development and implementation. His ability to produce solutions that are scalable and effective is unsurpassed. He is definitely an asset to any team or company that wishes to understand the different scenarios in developing applications using Microsoft technologies. He was also able to transition the project to our internal staff with ease.

His knowledge of architecture, problem solving, and development methodologies is very solid. We are pleased to have used him on this project and will more than likely use him on future projects.
